End Riff A

The musical score is written for guitar in standard notation. It consists of four systems. The first two systems are for 'Riff A' and the last two for 'End Riff A'. Each system includes a guitar staff with a key signature of one flat (Bb) and a common time signature (C). The first two systems also include a bass staff with fret numbers. The melody is written in a simple, folk-like style. The bottom staff is a bass clef with a key signature of one flat (B-flat). It contains a 1/4 note rhythm and a sequence of numbers (3, 5, 7, 6, 5, 3, 5, 7, 6, 5, 5, 3, 5, 7, 6, 5, 5, 3, 5, 7, 6, 5, 3, 5, 3, 5) which likely represent a bass line or a specific rhythmic pattern. The numbers are grouped into measures by vertical lines.

The musical notation shows a treble clef with a key signature of one flat (Bb). The melody consists of eighth and quarter notes, with some notes beamed together. There are two wavy lines above the staff, likely indicating vibrato or a specific playing technique. Below the staff, there are three measures of fingering: the first measure has '3', '5', and '3 5' with a slur; the second measure has '3 5' and '3 5' with slurs; the third measure has '3' and '(3)' with a slur and an arrow pointing to the word 'full' above the staff.

Handwritten musical score for guitar. The top staff is in treble clef with a key signature of one flat (Bb). It contains a repeating melodic pattern of eighth notes, grouped in sets of three with a '3' below them. The bottom staff is a six-string guitar fretboard diagram with two lines of notes. The first line of notes corresponds to the melody in the top staff, and the second line shows the fretting for each note, with numbers 5, 6, and 8 indicating the frets.
